For me, nobody has ever lived a life totally free from ignorance at all points. Who appears beautiful today, time will fade...
The young, time will age
The old, time will kill Drawing from these, I throw out the opinion that the word loner should not be mentioned when "life" is being discussed... More so, live and leave a footprint on earth and on hearts, don't just exist, don't live for yourself alone. My name is Hills Alex Oluchi and I believe in contributing positively to the growth of others. </body> </html>
